Youth Dies in Accident, 3 Others Injured

Lonnie Miles Harris, 16, died in a local hospital about three hours after the accident. His mother Mrs. B. G. Boulton, wife of the driver of the car, sustained back and internal injuries and regained consciousness about 8 a. m.

Her son, Charles Harris, 13, is in a critical condition with several broken bones and internal injuries.

Another 5-year-old son sustained very severe head injuries and was rushed to a Little Rock hospital for treatment. He was accompanied by his stepfather who was not seriously hurt.

Lt. Guy Downing, Arkansas State Police, said he was told by a witness it appeared that Mr. Boulton may have dropped a cigarette and was reaching for it when the car, traveling east toward Kentucky from Fort Worth, Texas area, hit a bridge.

The concrete and steel railing crumpled completely through the vehicle and bent in an arch toward the opposite side of the bridge, blocking traffic for an hour and forty-five minutes. It had to be cut away with a torch.

Ironically, officers said Mr. Boulton is a truck driver and holds many safety awards. He reportedly has driven over a million miles.

Calls Sending Riders North a Cruel Deed

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP)—Southern segregationists' shipping of penniless Negroes to Northern communities is cruelty "below the standards of a civilized nation," says the Protestant Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts.

The Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes Jr. said in a statement Monday that the "reverse freedom riders represent a tragic lack of humanity."

As Bishop Stokes issued his statement, six more Negroes including a 17-month-old girl, arrived in Hyannis. They brought to 71 the number sent to Cape Cod with one-way bus tickets.

The new arrivals, all from Little Rock, Ark., were Edward Evans, 21, his wife Emma Jean, 19, and their 17-month-old daughter; James Roe, 25, and his wife Henrietta, 17; and Robert Lee Robinson, 22.

All three men said they had been unemployed for periods up to three years. The Roes left a 16-month-old daughter with relatives in Little Rock.

The Negroes said each one had been given $5 by members of the White Citizens Council at Little Rock to pay for food on their trip north.

Bishop Stokes' statement said that "those who have sent the reverse freedom riders have used human lives as a means of expressing spite. To use humans as pawns—and particularly as pawns in a bitter and cynical expression of hatred—is to lower ourselves below the standards of a civilized nation."

"The only way to meet such cruelty is by wisdom and love," the bishop added. "It is up to the churches, the welfare agencies, public and private and the people of the commonwealth to show understanding and compassion."

Can't Get Off Ballot After Sat.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Political candidates have until Saturday at 6 p. m. to notify either the state or county secretaries of their parties to remove their names off the ballot.

Names will be removed from the ballot after that deadline only if the candidate dies.

A Hurricane Hunter Sent Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane-hunting Tiros V rocketed into orbit today to seek the cause of the killer storms and perhaps help devise means of taming them.

A three-stage Thor-Delta rocket blasted off at 7:18 a. m. carrying the fifth in the series of weather-eye satellites.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced more than two hours later that the satellite was in orbit and had transmitted its first series of cloud cover pictures.

A pair of television cameras in the Tiros V made pictures as the satellite completed its first orbit and relayed them instantly to a tracking station at Wallops Island, Va.

Weather experts hope the pictures will provide valuable information on the origin, development and movement of tropical storms born in the 1962 season, which opened last week.

Project official Robert Gray reported that 20 seconds after launching a short circuit developed in ground equipment designed to beam radio commands to the guidance package.

"After that, the rocket had to rely on its automatic pilot to fly its proper course," Gray said.

He said the auto pilot is fed all flight commands before launch and can carry out the mission, but normally not as precisely as the radio guidance system.

"It appeared that today the auto pilot performed almost as precisely as the guidance would have," Gray said.

The huge rocket rose smoothly on a tail of yellow-orange flame, arched toward the northeast and sped swiftly from sight. It disappeared in a cloud bank about two minutes after launching.

Hurricane-watching was Tiros V's main assignment. But Meteorologists hope pictures taken by its cloud-cover cameras also will provide vital data on storms, fog and ice breakup near the Arctic Circle; Pacific Ocean typhoons and other weather phenomena around the world.

The launching was timed so the 286-pound satellite's two television cameras would be aimed at the hurricane-breeding grounds of the Caribbean and Atlantic during late August and all of September, normally the peak period for tropical storms.

The hurricane season opened officially Friday. If the initial storm of the season, Alma, develops in the first 10 days of Tiros V's flight the satellite would be able to photograph it.

Circle C Club Rodeo at Camden

The Circle C Riding Club's world championship rodeo begins Wednesday night, June 20, at Camden and will continue through Saturday with performances starting promptly at 8 o'clock each night.

A big parade will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday at Camden. The club puts on one of the greatest professional rodeos ever held in the South.

Cowboys in the rodeo compete for the world's championship and their winnings at the Camden rodeo contribute to the national title. A week after the rodeo an itemized payoff of contestants is sent to the Association and recorded.

In the fall a cutoff date is set closing the regular season and the 15 top money winners in each event qualify for the National Finals. All riders in the Circle C Rodeo compete at each performance for national honors.

Population Figures Are Misleading

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Vernon Whitten of Mount Holly said today figures which show Arkansas gained 6 per cent in population during 1961 are misleading.

Whitten, a candidate for governor, cited figures from a report released Friday by the University of Arkansas which said the state gained 11,000 residents last year.

"The report stated that a net out-migration movement was still going on," Whitten said in a statement. "The natural increase—births over deaths—was more than enough to offset it. Should this be considered good news?"

"By the university's own statement, we are still losing adult population. Until this trend is reversed, we will have no cause for joy. The babies of today cannot be counted on to help our state grow and prosper for at least 20 years."

Whitten said he was sure a breakdown of emigrants would show Arkansas was losing its high school and college graduates.

They have "come to view Arkansas as 'the LACK of Opportunity, rather than the Land of Opportunity,'" he said.

Whitten issued the statement before departing on a campaign trip to Prescott, Hope and Nashville.

No Reason for Berlin War, Mr. K Says

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told Romanian workers today that the Soviet Union sees no reason to go to war over Berlin and "we do not give any deadline" on settling the Berlin issue.

"The United States threatened us with war over Berlin, but I don't see any reason to go to war," he said.

"Those who talk about war had better remember that if they pushed the button it would boom against them."

"We do not give any deadline, but as soon as the matter is ripe we will solve the problem," he said.

Khrushchev spoke to a crowd of railway workers in the rolling-stock repair yards on the outskirts of Bucharest. He arrived in Romania Monday for a week's visit.

Khrushchev told the workers: "I am convinced that tomorrow the Red flag will fly over the United States. But we will not fly the flag. It will be the American people themselves."

Discussing Berlin, Khrushchev said: "We want an agreement with the Americans to change the occupation status of West Berlin and convert it into a free city. But if there is no understanding on this matter with the United States, we will sign a peace treaty with the German Democratic Republic, ending the occupation status of West Berlin."

Khrushchev attacked the United States for failing to reach an agreement on disarmament and a halt to nuclear testing.

"Therefore we have to produce bombs," he said. "This is a waste of energy because people cannot eat bombs."

He said the armament race was responsible for the recent increase of meat prices in the Soviet Union.

More Riders to Hyannis

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP)—Six more Arkansas "Reverse Freedom Riders" arrived in this Cape Cod community Monday. Included in the group was a 17-month-old infant. The new arrivals, bringing the total to 71 are Edward Evans, 21, his wife Emma Jean, 19, and their 17-month-old daughter; James Roe, 25, his wife Henrietta, 17; and Robert Lee Robinson, 22. All six are from Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Little Peter Lollar is back from Chicago, apparently without having had the last of a series of operations to correct his brittle-boned condition.

Peter, 2, was scheduled to have the last of six operations Monday, but his mother, Mrs. Oris B. Lollar, said she and Peter returned from Chicago a week ago.

Mrs. Lollar referred all questions about Peter's condition to the Shrine Hospital in Chicago, where the first five operations were performed.

Hospital officials said any comment would have to come from Mrs. Lollar. They said the boy probably will have to undergo occasional operations until he is 10.

Peter suffers from osteogenesis imperfecta, a bone disease in which his bones fail to form properly. In the operations, rods of surgical steel were inserted into his bones to strengthen them.

All major bones in Peter's legs and his left arm were rodged during the first five operations. Mrs. Lollar said one of these rods got out of place and presumably this condition was to have been corrected during the recent Chicago trip.

Mrs. Lollar would not say whether any operation was performed during the trip.

Attacks Ram Red Rebels in Viet Nam

By CONRAD FINK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two big government attacks smashed into Communist guerrilla concentrations in four provinces, killing 180 Viet Cong and capturing 131, a communique said today.

Numerous other actions flared across South Viet Nam, including a Red ambush north of Saigon, as fighting appeared to increase in intensity.

The two weekend operations, which scored the heaviest Red casualties claimed in weeks, were along the Vinh Long and An Giang provincial borders in the delta region of the south and in Long An and Binh Duong provinces, west of Saigon near the Cambodian border, the government communique said.

Vietnamese troops in the delta offensive temporarily put aside American supplied helicopters and armored personnel carriers and went into a two-day battle as foot-slogging infantrymen once again, an official said. They reported killing 49 Communists and capturing 80 in clashes with elements of two Red battalions.

It was an ironic followup to the operation last week in which the Vietnamese used a million dollars' worth of new U.S. armored personnel carriers with only moderate success.

The other major two-day weekend operation west of Saigon left 60 Reds dead on the battlefield and 51 behind the barbed wire of prison camps, the communique claimed.

No Agreement in Metal Strike

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—No agreement was reached Monday in a meeting between representatives of the Arkansas Sheet Metal Contractors Association and Local 249 of the striking Sheet Metal Workers Union.

It was the first bargaining session since the strike went into effect June 4.

Small concessions were made in Monday's meeting, with the union reducing its demand for a 40-cent hourly wage increase over the next two years to 35 cents and the contractors raising their offer from 15 cents to 17 1/2 cents.

Engineers Postpone Strike Temporarily But Pickets Appear

Not a True Picture Says Poultrymen

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Do live price quotations on broilers and fryers give a true perspective of poultry industry prices?

Spokesmen for the poultry industry don't think so, the Agricultural Marketing Service doesn't know, and Arkansas' whole reporting system came to a halt Monday.

Dr. John W. White, vice president for agriculture at the University of Arkansas, said the broiler industry is so integrated there is practically no "live" bird market.

The integrated companies claim prices have been based on such a small percentage of trading they do not reflect the actual situation, and they regard an attempt to quote prices as harmful to the industry.

The AMS collects information at the market levels for different commodities and reports the prices. The purpose of the service is to keep producers informed. The integrated companies believe the reports are not informing—but misleading.

L. D. Thompson, reporter in charge of Arkansas operations, is out in the state and unavailable for comment.

In the past the AMS has complained that the integrated companies will not supply accurate information on the prices they pay.

Dr. White said the AMS would continue to report the markets for eggs and other commodities from the Little Rock office, but no information was released Monday, and none is being released today.

Lex Killbrow, executive secretary of the Arkansas Poultry Federation, said the reports work a hardship on its members. He claimed not more than two per cent of the birds processed are represented in the AMS report.

Killbrow said the federation plans to set up its own private reporting service and handle information through its office in Little Rock. He said the figures would not be the kind the AMS would accept as the market level, but that it would nevertheless meet the needs of federation members.

But there are other indications that the entire AMS operation will be moved to Little Rock and work on a year-around basis in reporting prices on eggs and livestock and other commodities when in season.

Contract Let for Hospital

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP)—A general contract for construction of a $615,000 hospital for Baxter County was awarded Monday to H. C. Enterprises, Inc., of Little Rock. Work on the 39-bed facility is expected to begin July 9. It will be located near Mountain Home. The hospital is being financed with $330,000 in federal Hill-Burton funds and a $285,000 bond issue approved by Bradley County voters last June.

It was the first bargaining session since the strike went into effect June 4.

Small concessions were made in Monday's meeting, with the union reducing its demand for a 40-cent hourly wage increase over the next two years to 35 cents and the contractors raising their offer from 15 cents to 17 1/2 cents.

Immanuel Baptist Revival Planned

Two Governors at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—Two governors speak tonight at the first general assembly of the annual meeting of the American Baptist Association.

Scheduled to address the expected 3,500 delegates are Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and Gov. Price Daniels of Tex.

The annual sermon will be delivered at 8 p. m. by the Rev. Glenn Perry of White Oak, Tex. Reports of the organization's missionary program will be heard Wednesday.

State Unions Have $2.6 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The current publication of the Bureau of Labor-Management Reports of the Department of Labor shows 334 Arkansas union locals having assets of $2.6 million.

Over $2 million of the receipts came from dues while $2.7 million was reported in expenditures, including $746,000 for officers and union employees.

The report showed all Arkansas locals having some income, with two receiving nearly $300,000. Most, however, had receipts under $5,000.

All unions are required to provide financial statements under the 1960 Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act.

Near Police State, Says McMath

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Former Gov. Sid McMath and Rep. Dale Alford hit at concentration of political power in the hands of Gov. Orval E. Faubus as they campaigned for governor today.

Vernon Whitten of Mount Holly turned his attention to a report which showed Arkansas still was losing adult population and he said the state would have no cause for joy until this trend is stopped.

McMath addressed a Little Rock civic club. Alford spoke in Cotton Plant and had stops scheduled at Brinkley, De Valls Bluff and Camden later in the day.

Faubus' campaign headquarters said he was busy writing a speech. He was scheduled to address a Baptist convention tonight in Texarkana.

Kenneth Coffelt of Little Rock continue a speaking tour of south Arkansas. He has 67 stops scheduled this week.

McMath said he sees "disturbing indications that Arkansas has moved a substantial distance down the road toward becoming a police state."

"Things have begun to happen in Arkansas which are foreign to the American way of life and which would be more in harmony with Castro's Cuba or Hitler's Germany," McMath declared.

He referred specifically to charges that political pressure forced cancellation of a fish fry scheduled by David A. Cox, another gubernatorial candidate and to an alleged ban on political speeches at the University of Arkansas.

Alford said he had been asked why he ran for governor without asking Faubus' permission.

"It would be a dark day in our state if it should actually become necessary to seek anyone's permission to run for any public office," Alford said.

He charged Faubus is trying to leave the impression that only he (Faubus) is capable of serving as governor.

"God forbid that Arkansas ever comes to that sorry pass," Alford said.

Whitten discussed at University of Arkansas report, issued Friday, which said Arkansas had a population gain of 6 per cent, on 11,000 residents, in 1961.

"The report stated that a net out-migration movement was still going on," Whitten said in a statement. "By the university's own statement, we are still losing adult population. Until this trend is reversed, we will have no cause for joy. The babies of today cannot be counted on to help our state grow and progress for at least 20 years."

Car Overtakes, Two Injured

A small foreign make car rolled over three times on a curve six miles south of Hope Sunday night injuring its two occupants, William Martensen and John A. Gore of Bossier City, La. Both were hurt but not critically. Martensen was thrown into a barbed wire fence and cut up pretty badly. They were enroute to Narrows.

The association includes some 3,500 churches throughout the United States, with a membership of 700,000.

Goldberg Plan for Settlement to Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flight engineers temporarily postponed a scheduled strike on Trans World Airlines today pending consideration of settlement recommendations made by the government.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said the Flight Engineers International Association has agreed to hold off its walkout "from moment to moment" while the recommendations were under study by negotiators for the union and the carrier.

Goldberg's announcement was timed exactly at the 2 p. m. strike deadline, but in the minutes before it was distributed two flight engineers already had begun picketing at New York's Idlewild Airport.

Pickets had been scheduled to parade in front of the TWA terminal at Idlewild and at similar TWA facilities across the country.

Goldberg said he made the settlement proposal, containing a proposed solution of all issues in dispute, in behalf of himself and undersecretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Francis A. O'Neill Jr. of the National Mediation Board and Wisconsin law professor Nathan B. Feinsinger.

Those men make up the government team that has been working for a settlement of the long dispute centering on the makeup of cockpit crews.

Shortly before the deadline came there appeared to be hopes a walkout could be averted. President Kennedy had warned that an airline strike would be against the national interest.

Representatives of the airline and two unions—the Flight Engineers and the Pilots Association—stayed at the conference table Tuesday night until after midnight. Then Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg ordered a recess so they could "do some more work separately."

Goldberg declined to say how the talks were going but a spokesman for the flight engineers said "We made no progress—none whatsoever."

The main issue in the dispute, which has simmered and boiled since the airlines first began using jets, is whether a pilot or an engineer should fill the third seat in the cockpit.

The flight engineers set 2 p. m. EDT today to start their walkout if mediation efforts fail.

President Kennedy has warned the flight engineers no to strike but he has exhausted remedies available to him under the Railway Labor Act which governs disputes.

putes involving airlines personnel. As the government worked to stave off a TWA walkout, a strike threat was made against another airline—American.

The Transport Workers Union, AFL-CIO, announced in New York it plans a strike of 10,000 ground employees against American at midnight Friday.

The TWA, whose members work in maintenance, communications and storekeeping jobs, has been negotiating with American for several months for a new contract.

Kennedy is expected to block this strike—at least temporarily—by invoking provisions of the Railway Labor Act. Under the act, the strike can be delayed a minimum of 60 days while a presidential fact-finding board studies the dispute and recommends settlement terms.

These procedures have been used up in the TWA-engineers disagreement.

While pressing their walkout threat against TWA, the flight engineers have dropped their threat temporarily against Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines.

The union said this was done in deference to Kennedy's warning that a strike against all three airlines would harm the nation's economy and welfare.

SHORTY A 2-Minute Story

By ED LACY

"Why the flowers?" Frances asked as she started to undress the baby. "Here I'm worried sick because you're two hours late for lunch, and you show up with a dozen roses George, what happened to you?"

"Nothing, honey. I just took the baby for a walk and..."

"I'm so afraid in this crummy neighborhood! I don't know, sometimes I think we would have been better off to have stayed in our one-room apartment!"

"Come on now, Fran, take it easy. We needed a room for Junior, and this is the best we could get," George told her, smiling.

"Some place to raise a child! The street is full of racketeers, Mrs. Johnson, next door, said she actually saw the police frisking a couple of bookies downstairs in our hallway this morning—right in this very house!"

"I know," George said, still smiling. "Maybe we'll move soon. In a way, the roses are a gift from the... er... bookies."

"George, if you don't stop that idiotic grinning, I'll... I'll scream! Now where were you all this time?"

"In the police station."

"George! You had our baby in a police station? What happened?"

"When I unlocked the carriage, fixed the blankets, as I do every Saturday morning... I... eh... noticed... this pile of bills under the mattress. Eleven hundred and sixteen dollars!"

Frances nodded faintly. "This morning... when the police were... searching... those bookies... They must have hidden their money in the baby-bug-

Compromise Rejected by Kennedy

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has rejected a proposed compromise on its embattled tax revision bill, senators said today. The decision left the measure's future highly uncertain.

About the only certainty was that the bill faced still further delay because the Finance Committee is going to put it aside again Wednesday.

The measure has been passed by the House but has been held up in the Senate since April.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican on the Finance Committee, told a newsmen the money back.

"Hon, don't worry about it. First, eleven hundred bucks is peanuts in their racket. And, well, another reason I was so late, I phoned that real estate fellow—the one with the houses in the country. We saw him when Junior was on the way. With the six hundred we have in the bank, plus a hundred, or so well, be able to save in the next three months and the eleven hundred we'll get when the money isn't claimed will have enough for a down payment on a house. After three months we won't be around here any longer. You might say, we beat the bookies by not taking a chance!"

"Oh George, you're so clever!"

"Not clever, honey, I merely played it honest."

The End

"Oh George, we won't even get a reward!"

"Fran babe, when a person reports finding something, why the police hold the item for a time. If no one claims it within 90 days, it's returned to the finder. All we have to do is wait and $1,116 is ours!"

"But the b—bookies, wont they claim it?" Frances asked.

"I doubt it," George laughed. "The police know as well as we do how the money got into Junior's carriage. Any bookie claiming it will be pleading guilty, practically asking for arrest."

"Then the devil beat you up, do something horrible!"

Kissing her, George poked a finger at his son—waiting to be powdered, said "Nope, that would be an admission of guilt too. Besides, word of this will get around—I've already told the janitor and the grocer on the corner—the bookies will know I don't have the money on me. You see, Fran, if I'd kept still and kept the money, then we would have been in trouble. Now, knowing the police have the money, there's no point in them bothering me."

Frances sighed, said sadly, "But they'll do something nasty in the future, after you get the

Youth Drowned at Texarkana

Curtis Ray Smith, 15, Negro, drowned in a mill pond while swimming with another 15-year-old Negro, Lester Wilson.

Wilson said Smith swam out too far and couldn't make it back to shallow water. Wilson said he tried to save Smith, but could not, and then called for help.

A Texas city policeman, Clarence Lee, dived in and tried to save Smith, but he could not find the boy under the water. The body was recovered about two hours later.

One man drowned in the Little River Saturday, and another drowned Sunday.

It was the seventh drowning in the last three weeks in the Texarkana area.

Only One Capable, Just Impression

COTTON PLANT, Ark. (AP)—Rep. Dale Alford charged today that Gov. Orval E. Faubus is trying to leave the impression that only he (Faubus) is capable of being governor.

"God forbid Arkansas ever comes to that sorry pass," Alford declared.

The congressman, one of five opponents to Faubus' fifth term bid, campaigned in east central Arkansas today. He had later speeches scheduled at Brinkley, De Valls Bluff and Clarendon.

Alford said he was being asked why he had run for governor without asking Faubus permission. "This is a ridiculous question, but it is being asked," he said. "It would be a dark day for our state should it actually become necessary to ask anyone's permission to seek any public office. I never asked anyone's permission."

Alford said the only permission he was seeking was "from you, the people, that I might have the opportunity to humbly serve the state."

Plane Crash Is Blamed on Crew

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most of blame for history's worst air disaster—the collision of two airliners over New York City which took 134 lives 81 months ago—was placed today on the crew of one of the planes. A government report said the crew made a distance-judging error.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said in an accident report that the probable cause of the fiery collision was that the United Air Lines DC8 flew beyond the area for which it had been cleared, a holding pattern over Preston, N.J.

Contributing factors, the CAB said, was the plane's high rate of speed and a new routing issued just before the accident by the New York air route traffic control center.

A United spokesman said the report had just been received, and there would be no comment until executives have studied it. On the morning of Dec. 16, 1960, the United jet, inbound from Chicago with 77 passengers and a crew of seven, collided in snow-choked, gray skies over Staten Island with a Trans World Airlines Lockheed Super Constellation, en route from Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, with 39 passengers and five crew members.

The jet was on an instrument approach to Idlewild International Airport, the propeller-driven craft under radar guidance to La Guardia Airport.

On blazing impact, the United liner plunged into a crowded Brooklyn neighborhood and six persons on the ground perished. The TWA plane came down in flames in an open field on Staten Island. Of the 128 persons aboard the two planes the sole survivor was a boy, but he died later of injuries.

After a lengthy investigation the CAB today issued its report, tracing the flight patterns of the two planes and attempting to assess the causes of the disaster. It found that when the DC8 crew informed the Idlewild approach control station that it was coming on the Preston intersection, the plane actually was some nine miles beyond the point, to the northeast.

This and other factors, the CAB said, "all tend to support the conclusion that the crew believed they had not yet reached the Preston station when the collision occurred."

At Preston, the DC8 was to have circled, if necessary, while awaiting further landing instructions.

Also, the CAB said, the United plane was at an altitude of about 5,200 feet on collision and that a flight recorder indicated that in the plane's last minute the airliner had slowed from 409 to 346 miles an hour.

At the time Federal Aviation Agency regulations set a maximum speed of 207 miles an hour

Medical scientists report on hangovers, sleep, and a suspect in causing congenital heart defects.

Hangover Effects

Hangovers after drinking may be hard on the heart. Finish researchers at least, say they found a speedier than normal heart rate in 30 healthy firemen either at rest or at work, after a night of drinking.

In part of the studies, they put the firemen through standard physical tests the morning after, when they had hangovers. Fourteen of the men performed as well as they usually did, two did better, and 12 were under par in physical performance.

Sleepy Brain

During sleep, the human brain shows complex patterns of electrical activity and responses to stimuli. The electrical readings are quite different from those during wakefulness.

In on test, University of Michigan researchers analyzed reactions to a flash of light, and found the brain responded differently at the outset than later on during sleep. By then, the person perhaps had become accustomed to blood of pregnant women who Kool and Basu K. Bagechi.

Heart Defects

Medical researchers have discovered a substance, in the bloodstream, which causes heart defects in the embryo or unborn chick.

Perhaps it is a cause of some congenital heart defects in human babies. They are trying to learn if this substance is present in the heart defects, it might be possible to have had previous children with.

Did Husband Speak Out of Turn?

DID HUSBAND SPEAK OUT OF TURN?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: During a conversation with visiting friends, the name of my first wife came up. The very mention of her upsets me. Maybe the callers dragged her in purposely to see what my reaction would be.

I hotly launched into a graphic description of how I beat up a lover of hers—one of many who broke up our marriage. This infuriated my second wife. She yelled that my first marriage was water under the bridge and to forget it. I shouted this was easier said than done and, given half a chance, I'd beat up that no-good love burglar again.

My second wife is everything my first wife wasn't. As a rule we get along like turtle doves, but, boy did we pile up the verbiage that night! She yakkety-yakked long after we went to bed, about how I couldn't love her if I kept on thinking about my first wife.

You can judge for yourself what she was when the court awarded me, not her, our two children. The court left the visitation rights to my discretion. At the time of my divorce the kids were 3 and 9. They're now 9 and 15, old enough to appreciate and love their stepmother. But every Sunday I send them to their real mother. This upsets them and my wife for days after. Things are pretty bad here at home. Should I have kept my mouth shut about that first wife and her lover? Is once a week too often to pack the kids off to their mother? Please print your answer. My wife is a steady reader of your column. —Blunder-buss

Dear Blunder: Your second wife is right. Let the past bury itself. Live in the present. Beating up that old love burglar will only cause more trouble. This is undoubtedly what your first wife wants. As it is, she heckles you through the children and you're a fool to heed her. If she didn't care enough about them to guard her reputation when they lived with her, she's certainly not thinking of them now.

Letting her see the kids once a week is phoney sentimentality. When they and your present wife have loyally sided with you, why sell them out by favoring the very one who's hurt you the most? Under the circumstances, once in three months would be often enough. Keep the arrangements impersonal by asking the court to set the dates.

Dear Helen: My problem, old as the hills, is a drinking husband. Mine used to drink some, now he drinks all the time; goes

I keep our two little girls, aged one and three, our home and myself attractive; am a good cook and make friends easily. Other fellows in my husband's outfit tell him he's lucky to draw a good-looking wife who's on the job. I could have plenty of dates but am not interested. My husband doesn't two-time either. It's only the bottle and me. After a bad binge he'll break down and cry, "Why am I doing this?" Then in the next breath, "I'll find myself some day."

Would you leaving him help? I've even thought of taking my own life—perhaps that might jerk him back to reality? Is there any hope? —A Very Lonely and Blue Wife

Dear Very Lonely: There is always hope provided you keep the colors flying. To walk out on your family and life is to surrender to the enemy—or trouble, in its various forms. Stick by your man. At least he admits to doing the wrong thing. That's one step toward A. A. The decision to join must come from him.

Accept the fact that you are dealing with a sick man. Ascertain, if possible, what causes his excessive drinking. Does he resent his commanding officer? Are you and he living within his income? Do you put him or the children first? Alcoholics crave admiration and love. Substitute praise for blame. Instill confidence in him, by taking a positive attitude yourself. If you love one another, reformation will eventually come. Don't lose heart.

Dear Helen: My husband and I love our two children, a boy and girl, and thought they'd do us but now you'd think we were their mortal enemies. Suddenly they are lined up against us as contrary as can be. Let my husband innocently remark that it looks like storm, and they'll scream that the day is perfect. No matter what we do or say, it's the same. All we're trying to do is rear a couple of decent law-abiding citizens who'll be a credit to themselves and to us. But to listen to them we're just a couple of jailers dragging them off to the torture chamber. Why, why, why? The boy is 13, the girl 14. —Weary Mother

Dear Weary: Your children are simply feeling the oats of adolescence. Bodies develop more quickly than minds. The transition from child to adult takes place between the ages of 13 and 20, so prepare yourself for the worse and hope for the best. A sense of humor helps.

Contract Let for G&F Lake

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission awarded a contract today to Cohen Construction Co. of Blytheville to build Lake Pine Bluff.

Cohen, the only bidder, submitted a bid of $199,000 last Monday to build the 500-acre lake.

The commission withheld awarding of the contract until today, Game and Fish Commission officials conferred with state Highway Department officials, and were advised the bid was in line with work costs.

Commission director Nelson Cox said the commission estimate of $155,000 was based on work costs of a year ago, and in the past year cost of some jobs, such as dirt moving, have gone up. He said that accounted for the difference in the estimate.

Cox said the lake may be completed this fall. The contract says Cohen Company has 100 working days to complete the lake.

Finds TV Soothing When Acting

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Margaret Leighton, the brilliant British stage and screen star, finds television soothing—not watching it, but acting in it.

This is a rare attitude, indeed. Performers usually drag around on the brink of exhaustion and complain about their incipient ulcers.

Miss Leighton, of course, is rarely seen on American television screens, but when she does appear in a program she is usually also working on Broadway.

Wednesday, for instance, she will star in CBS' final dramatic special of the season, "The First Day," which was taped a couple of weeks ago.

Miss Leighton currently is starring in "The Night of the Iguana," Tennessee Williams' Broadway play and during the weeks of rehearsals and taping was working a 16-hour day.

"But after awhile in a play, it is very helpful to have something else to think about," she explained. "After a period in the same play, you develop a sinking feeling—a nervousness—and working on something else takes your mind off it."

In the television play, an original, Miss Leighton portrays a school teacher who has recovered from a mental breakdown.

It seems that the actress—one of the celebrated Old Vic alumnae and one who has played with the most celebrated names in the British theater—recently has been specializing in neurotic, spinster roles.

"I must say," she remarked, "I'm beginning to feel a bit gritty about it. I think it's probably about time I had a comedy to do—before people will think that all I can play are these types of roles."

Dave Garroway hopes to be cleared by NBC—which still has an option on his services—so he can sit in for Arthur Godfrey for a week or two while the CBS radio star takes a vacation. Garroway will also turn up on next Sunday's CBS "What's My Line?" and NBC's "TV Guide awards show."

Carol Burnett and Julie Andrews have fans as devoted as Jack Paar and Elvis Presley, judging from the outpouring of mail scolding this column for its lukewarm review of their recent show.

Suspicion Obstacle to Kennedy Plan

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Kennedy is attempting one of the most difficult bridge-building jobs of recent years, and so far, having very little success.

The President is trying to span the gulf between business and government, even as events in Wall Street and his own fiscal and economic policies cause the gulf to widen.

Unquestionably, one of the biggest obstacles facing Kennedy is the suspicion of the federal government shared by a great many businessmen. This suspicion has deep roots and may never be dispelled, but it can be reduced.

Evidence of this was supplied last Thursday in a little-noted address at the Brookings Institution by Undersecretary of Commerce Edward Gudeman, a former vice president of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Gudeman discussed government-business relations.

"If someone had written this speech for me two years ago," said Gudeman, "I would have rejected it. I realize now that when I was part of top management of a major American enterprise, I was rather insulated from the total national economic and political scene. I wonder whether this is not the case for many American businessmen."

Some may discount Gudeman's statement of a change of attitude because he is a Democrat working for a Democratic administration. However, his experience is not unique.

The Atlantic Monthly, a decade ago, published a Boston Republican's account of a similar change of attitude after 10 months of service in the State Department during the Truman Administration.

Thomas D. Cabot, a former president of United Fruit Co., wrote that he went to Washington "full of criticism and left full of admiration."

Even in the tax area—one of the most sensitive points of contact between business and government—business suspicion can be lessened when executives are exposed to the inner workings of the tax system.

A special advisory group of prominent businessmen, tax attorneys and accountants meets four times a year with the commissioner of internal revenue to discuss broad tax problems. One such meeting was held last week.

A newsman asked members of the group to assess these meetings. All who were questioned agreed that the session had reduced their own suspicion of IRS. They said the revenue service had shown a willingness to accept suggestions. Equally important, it had demonstrated that questions of tax policy are resolved only after thorough and rational discussion.

One member of the advisory group is Dana Latham, a Republican attorney from Los Angeles who was IRS commissioner in the last two years of the Eisenhower administration. Latham said meetings show IRS officials are "not just an arbitrary bunch of so-and-so's sitting here making decisions in a vacuum."

Kennedy can draw encouragement from the words of Gudeman, Cabot and Latham. At the same time, their testimony is discouraging because it suggests that business suspicions may be reduced insignificantly only through first-hand experience. Only a small minority of businessmen can expect to receive such experience.

Clayton Dislikes Attack on Banks

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - State Treasurer Lee Clayton said today the attack of former governor Sid McMath on the handling of state funds deposited in banks is a reflection on his father.

Clayton, who was appointed by Gov. Orval Faubus to fill the unexpired term of Vance Clayton after his death in 1961, said the state Board of Finance has authority to invest up to 75 per cent of the average daily balance in the treasury.

He said $2 million in state funds is now invested to earn interest.

Clayton said since he has been in office he has changed very few of the practices followed by his father.

McMath last week attacked the handling state funds, saying pressure was being exerted on bankers through manipulation of deposits.

Tragedy of Alcoholism Not Confined

EDITOR'S NOTE—The tragedy of the alcoholic is not restricted to the one person who cannot control his thirst for a drink. A life shattered wreaps fearful damage on those close by. In this second in a five-part series an Associated Press-writer reports the new five avenues of help being opened for the mates and children of alcoholics.

By BERNARD GAVZER, Associated Press Writer

How terrible it is to hate someone you should love; how hard it is to love someone who is so hateful.

Love and hate for the same person make a strange combination. But to the child or wife of an alcoholic, intermingling love and hate are familiar, twisting threads in a painful, constant emotional crisis.

"I hated him, despised him, wished he'd die," admits the gentle-looking, gray-haired grandmother.

Her companions in Al-Anon not in understanding. They, too, hate suffered from an alcoholic mate.

"Sometimes I loved my father and mother, sometimes I hated them," says the 16-year-old beauty. "I hated them more than I loved them. I couldn't understand why they were doing this to me."

Her companions in Alateen—nine boys and nine other girls who have an alcoholic parent or parents—recognize her torture. Their feelings are important. They must be expressed—not in Al-Anon grew informally from the AA group, its name is merely an enlarged abbreviation of Alcoholics Anonymous. Mates of alcoholics sometimes acted as unofficial hostesses at AA meetings, passing out soft drinks and coffee and cake. They began discussing mutual problems and eventually this turned into concrete, soul-searching. Soon little groups were founded, usually wives but occasionally including the husband or a woman alcoholic, and an organization was formally incorporated in 1954. Now there are 2,000 Al-Anon groups in the U.S., Canada and 20 foreign countries. Members are not solely mates of those in AA. In a good many groups, the members are mates of drinking alcoholics.

Three years later, in 1957, Alateen arose. It specifically geared

Dodgers Take Key Game Over the Cardinals

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It obviously was supposed to be a work-hard-for-one-run sort of ball game. Hit and run, steal, squeeze, sacrifice and all that sort of thing. That's the way the Los Angeles Dodgers have been winning many of their games.

With the Dodgers and St. Louis hooked up in a scoreless struggle through eight innings Monday night, it looked like another one.

But Tommy Davis was having none of it. He departed from the script. He hit a one-out home run in the bottom of the ninth to give the Dodgers and Sandy Koufax an important 1-0 victory over St. Louis.

The victory increased the Dodgers' National League lead to 1 1/2 games over idle San Francisco. Hank Aaron's second grand slam homer in four days helped Milwaukee to a 7-1 triumph over New York and Cincinnati broke out of a three-game losing string and swept two from Pittsburgh, 6-5 and 4-2 in the only other National League games scheduled.

Minnesota crept to within 1 1/2 games of the top and snapped Kansas City's six-game winning string with a 9-4 romp over the Athletics in the only game scheduled in the American League.

Koufax and Gibson (8-5) had a nifty battle going before Davis decided things with his 350-foot shot. It was his 13th of the season and pushed his major-league leading RBI total to 68.

It was only the third hit off Gibson, who struck out Davis in his first two appearances.

Koufax (10-2) allowed only five singles, struck out nine and, for the first time in his career, went nine innings without walking a man.

Aaron became only the second National Leaguer ever to reach the distant left centerfield bleachers in the Polo Grounds when his bases-loaded third-inning homer settled things for the Braves. The 460-foot drive off Jay Hook (4-0) was Aaron's 14th homer of the season and sixth grand slam of his career.

Purkey's seven-hitter won the nightcap after Jim Brosnan and Johnny Klipsch choked off late-inning Pirate rallies in support of Jay in the first. The Reds put together a 14-hit attack in the first game, including homers by Frank Robinson, Don Blasingame and Chico Cardenas. Jerry Lynch homered in the second game and Vada Pinson had six hits in eight times at bat during the evening.

Camilo Pascual (9-4) backed by a 17-hit attack avenged a 6-1 loss to Kansas City in the series opener. He allowed only seven hits but they included homers by Dick Howser and Gino Cimoli. Rich Rollins and Vic Power each had three hits and Bob Allison and Zolfo Versalles each drove in three runs to head the Minnesota offense.

NCAA Open Round Halted by Darkness

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The NCAA Golf Tournament today was burdened with the double as signment of cleaning up its darkness-halted first round of qualifying play and running off a second 18 holes for the field of 215 players.

After 13 hours of play Monday, darkness finally forced a halt at 8 p.m. (EST) with 46 players still on the 6,828-yard par 71 Duke University course.

Kernit Zarley, University of Houston junior, seemed on the way to taking the 18-hole lead in the 36-hole qualifying play when darkness interrupted him after 17 holes. He was 3-under-par.

100 Youths to Enter P.B. Golf Meet

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Some 80-100 youngsters were expected to tee off today in the fifth state junior boys golf tournament at Pine Bluff.

The 10-11 year-old junior age group opened the tournament with nine holes, with the 14-15 and 16-17 brackets going 18. Defending champion Mike McCutcheon will have his title at stake in the 16-17 age group of the tournament, which ends Wednesday.

Host pro Gene Frase said 45 contestants already are registered for the state amateur tournament, and 16 are signed up for the senior division.

The amateur will begin Thursday, with finals scheduled for Sunday. The 54-hole senior division play also opens Thursday.

Frase said practically all of the state's club pros and many of the amateur contestants will be entered in the Arkansas Open, which will be held Thursday and Friday.

Richard McCauley of Pine Bluff, winner in the first junior division tournament five years ago, is considered one of the top contenders for the amateur title. He won the Pink Tomato Festival tournament in Warren over the weekend.

Bill Henry, former champion and a consistent contender in the amateur the past few years, also will be on hand.

Dr. Clyde Hart of Pine Bluff has posted the lowest qualifying score for the amateur with a 78.

Angels Make Surprising Progress

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels are making surprisingly rapid progress in the American League pennant race and they owe much of the headway to fence-bustin' Leon Wagner. The acquisition of Wagner from Toronto of the International League just before the start of the 1961 campaign has turned out to be quite a bonanza.

Last season, Wagner hit 28 homers for the Angels. This year, he's hitting 'em at an even faster clip. He walloped three in last week's games to take over the American League lead with 18.

Wagner also drove in four runs and is deadlocked for second place in RBI with Kansas City's Norm Siebern. Each has 48, one less than Floyd Robinson of the Chicago White Sox.

Willie Mays of San Francisco continues to top the National League in home runs with 21 while Tommy Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers has the most runs batted in, 68.

Rich Rollins of Minnesota and Felipe Alou of San Francisco maintained their batting leads. Rollins lost one point and heads the American League with .355. Alou dropped nine points, but still is the No. 1 National League batsman with .339. The figures include

Williams, Chicago, 87.
Doubles — Robinson, Cincinnati, 25; Mays, San Francisco 17.
Triples — Ranew, Houston, 7; Fairly, Los Angeles and Virdon, Pittsburgh, 6.

Suicide in Estes Probe Still Stands

FRANKLIN, Tex. (AP)—A suicide verdict still stands in the mystery shooting of Agriculture Department official Henry H. Marshall last year.

After a month-long probe in the reopened case, the Robertson County grand jury decided Monday night that evidence was "inconclusive to substantiate a different decision at this time."

The jury began the investigation after West Texas promoter Billie Sol Estes was indicted on fraud and theft charges. Marshall, 52, had been checking into cotton allotment dealings of Estes.

Dist. Judge John M. Barron, who joined Dist. Atty. Bryan Russ in convening the jurors dismissed the group with praise for its work remarking that the case "has resolved itself into a police action."

"If any evidence warranting an indictment comes up the grand jury can come right back" Barron said.

Marshall was found dead June 1, 1961, at a lonely spot on his ranch near here. He had been shot five times with a bolt action .22 caliber rifle which lay nearby.

Marshall was state chief of production adjustments for the agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. He was one of the first officials to look into Estes' manipulation of cotton acreage allotment.

The Agriculture Department has since fired Estes' $554,172, holding he obtained cotton allotments illegally.
